Saving the Lives of Our Most Vulnerable Neighbors

When researchers really look at the healthcare costs in this country, they find that a shocking 1% of the US population drives 25% of costs (see graphic left). While this does reflect serious, costly illness, a significant portion of these healthcare costs by our most vulnerable neighbors—those with complex behavioral health and chronic medical conditions, frequently exacerbated by economic deprivation, social isolation, and addictions. Due to the complexity of their healthcare needs and their significant barriers, these very vulnerable patients are often not well served by a traditional primary care model.

However, it is with these most vulnerable that TFC makes the greatest impact. For 15 years, we have been providing case management support for vulnerable patients; for six years, we have nurtured the innovative, intensive, and now award-winning Bridges to Health project, and for 18 months, we have explicitly addressed social barriers to health through our Patient Health Advocacy project.

These programs are dramatically changing the lives of our most vulnerable neighbors, that 1% that researchers have identified. We are significantly reducing hospital utilization; we are dramatically improving health outcomes; and we are powerfully addressing social barriers to health for our patients.

In the wake of our recent elections, healthcare enters another very uncertain season of challenges and changes. Yet, one thing remains consistent—our vulnerable neighbors need our help. And thanks to you, TFC is here—helping, changing lives, saving lives, saving resources, and deeply caring for our neighbors in need.

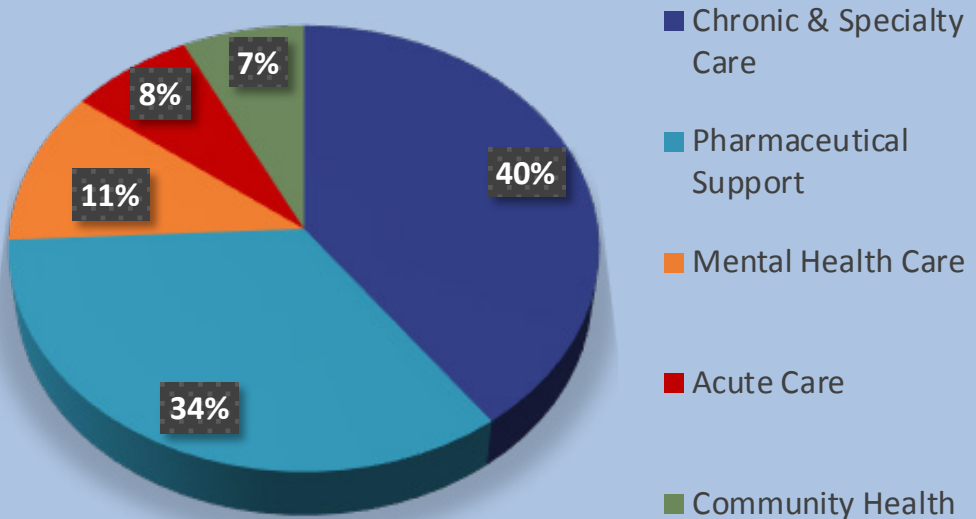

We are deeply grateful to you—our volunteers, donors, friends, partners, and advocates. You are TFC. You enable every dimension of our care. Without you, we simply would not exist. To you all, we say a profound and deep THANK YOU! Thank you for your support! Thank you for your time, commitment, expertise, and passion! Thank you for trusting us to be the vehicle through which you help ensure that our community truly cares for all our neighbors!

A community of people who CARE

Candace knew she had a family history of skin cancer when she noticed a small mole on her shoulder in early 2015. But, at that time, she, her husband, and two small children were living in a campground and hoping for a break. Candace didn't have the time or money to deal with a doctor, let alone the bills that may follow. The mole on her shoulder didn't hurt, so for over a year Candace ignored it, hoping it was nothing.

However, over time, the mole grew. Candace knew she should be worried, but she was so caught up in working and taking care of her family that she pushed those concerns to the back of her mind. It wasn't until the mole became infected, followed quickly by pain in her shoulder and numbing of her arm that Candace became concerned. Finally, Candace and her husband decided that she needed to see a doctor, and they would figure out the finances later.

When Candace finally saw a doctor, the doctor was instantly suspicious of the spot on Candace's shoulder. The doctor immediately referred Candace to The Free Clinics so that she could see a specialist. TFC connected Candace to a dermatologist who shared her doctor's concerns. TFC's partnering dermatologist biopsied the mole on Candace's shoulder as well as two other spots on her back and leg. The biopsy results were not good. Candace had stage IV melanoma in two separate locations—the original spot on her shoulder and one on her leg.

Stage IV melanoma is often very difficult to cure. In many cases, by the time these melanomas are diagnosed, they have already spread to the patients' lymph nodes. Candace was immediately scheduled a PET scan to determine if the cancer had spread and for surgery to remove the melanoma.

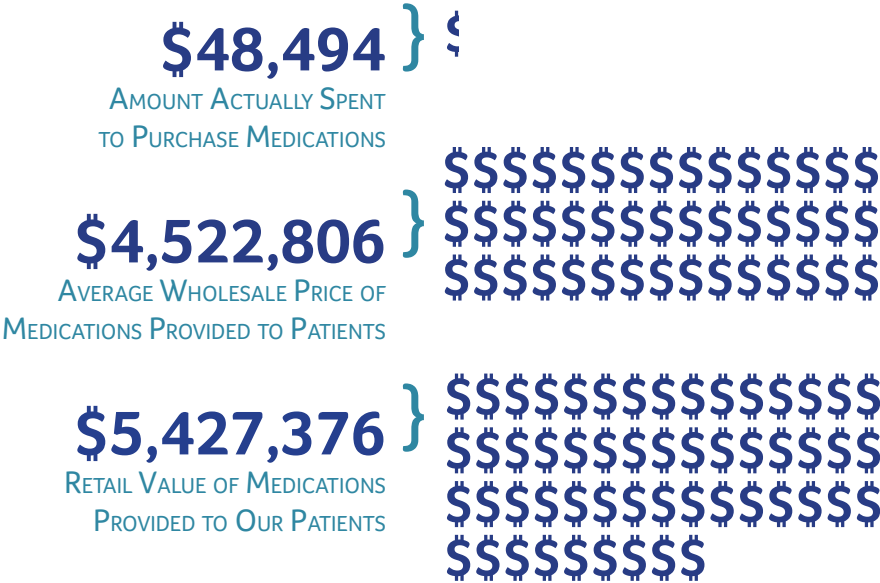

Luckily for Candace, the PET scan revealed that the cancer had not spread, and the surgery to remove Candace's two melanomas was a success. Throughout this ordeal, Candace's attitude remained upbeat and pleasant; her primary concern was getting healthy so that she could continue to care for her children and family.

Today Candace is thriving under an immunotherapy regimen. Candace experienced first-hand the meaning of CARE and the very real healing and compassion demonstrated when healthcare partners come together to show our most vulnerable neighbors that our community does actively CARE.

Candace—a patient of The Free Clinics

One of the ways that TFC shows that we CARE is staying true to our core principle of maximizing all available resources on behalf of our patients.

The pharmacy is one area where we have been particularly successful in this regard. While TFC does purchase some medications, we benefit from donated medications thanks to AstraZeneca Corporation and Direct Relief. A team of volunteers also assists patients to obtain free medications directly from pharmaceutical companies through our Prescription Assistance Program-Medi-Find. The impact of all these donated medications is clearly shown below and helps TFC to assure you -our community of donors and supporters- that we work diligently to be excellent stewards of your support!

Volunteer Spotlight:
Hannah

"A career in pharmacy was not on my radar until I had the experience of volunteering at The Free Clinics for two summers. The dedication and compassion the staff has for their patients sparked my interest in pharmacy. I had the pleasure to witness first hand how important The Free Clinics are to our community. The relationships I have built through The Free Clinics have showed me true appreciation for patient care. This is something I will carry along as I start my own career in pharmacy at the Medical University of South Carolina next year."

These volunteers CARE about our Neighbors in Need!

During 2015-16, over 280 volunteers donated over 10,000 hours of service and enabled every patient encounter at TFC.

We celebrate with profound gratitude the incredible generosity of our community of volunteers.

The Russell Sacco Legacy Society

Ensuring the future of healthcare for those in need in our community

Free healthcare for our community's low-income, uninsured residents is the legacy of Dr. Russell Sacco.

In 1999, local internist Dr. Russell Sacco had a vision: a free clinic for our community. "He believed that healthcare should be available to all members of our community, regardless of their ability to pay—and not just in the hospital emergency room," said Dr. Colin Thomas. It was through Dr. Sacco's persistence and determination that The Free Clinics was founded.

To honor his legacy, TFC created the Russell Sacco Legacy Society in April 2006 to help assure the sustainability of The Free Clinics. Members have either designated TFC as a beneficiary of a "legacy gift" and/or have tendered an "impact gift" of such significance as to facilitate critical program implementation.

Legacy Giving involves a current outright gift or a deferred gift. A deferred gift is postponed until sometime later in your life or it can be made at the time of your death. Deferred gifts include Testamentary and Life Income Gifts. Testamentary gifts can take many forms—bequests in a will or naming the organization as the beneficiary of an insurance policy, IRA, trust or annuity.
